Louise Allbritton, glamorous Texas oil heiress who decided to go into pictures, and Robert Paige, badman of the screen, shown in a scene in their latest picture, "Fired Wife," which was released by Universal to 31 key cities and will open soon on Broadway. Both will be in the parade and at the celebration grounds.

Hero Reading His Favorite Newspaper

Basilone takes a squint at the latest issue of the NEWS, which reached him regularly while he was at Guadalcanal. "It was like getting a letter from him, only it brought more news about the town and my friends," remarked the Marine Sergeant. He is one of several hundred men in service receiving this newspaper at camps all over the world.

Screen Stars, Military Units, 12 Bands in 2 - Mile Parade

Sergeant John Basilone comes home tomorrow and he will get the lustiest welcome ever accorded a hero. A crowd of 30,000 and a two-mile parade will greet him. Hollywood stars, Broadway talent, military units and even a dirigible from Lakehurst are on the program.

The auspicious program will be topped with a War Bond rally, with Jimmy Walker, ex-mayor of New York City, as chief salesman. The highlight of the bond selling will come when Basilone receives a $5,000 War Bond, the gift of hundreds of friends and neighbors.

Sidelights

Topflight reporters, newsreel men, magazine writers and camera guys will record the event for history. Life, one of the nation's leading magazines, is doing a six-page spread on how the hometown greets a hero and will have a photographer on hand... Parade, also a leader in the field will have one of its aces, Jim Goden, and a photog... Jim was in town Wednesday to get a background and will be back to see the event—he was one of the stars of the now-defunct City News Association of New York City and one of the best reporters in the big city—until he shifted to Parade... Camera bugs will have a field day—have been saving their precious flash bulbs for months...

William Geeghan of Frelinghuysen Ave. was on the committee and doing a swell job—until the Navy grabbed him. Now he won't even be able to see the celebration—he's taking boot training...

Some of the merchants are going all out to dress up their window... Costa did a grand job and deserves a prize... Has a Jap graveyard with 38 tombstones and a machinegun, all against a Basilone picture Ray Soriano has the picture which was shown in New York City by the International Business Machine Co., on 57th street... Units of Wacs, Waves, Spars, Women Marines, 12 bands, 600 school children, a detachment of 100 French sailors and band, a platoon of soldiers from Camp Kilmer and civic organizations from all over the State will be in the parade, which will undoubtedly be the biggest one ever seen in Somerset County.

The hero will reach town at 9:45 a. m. and will be met by Mayor Peter Mencaroni and Chairman William Slattery of the Township Committee will meet him and officially welcome him. The greeting will take place at the entrance to the town at the traffic lights on Somerset St. He will then go to St. Ann's Church for high mass. Next he will help dedicate the honor roll in front of the church. At the conclusion of this ceremony he will be received by the official committee headed by Col. William H. Kelly and taken to Raritan Valley Farms Inn for lunch.

Basilone will ride in an open car, with a group of women Marines marching ahead.

The stars who will attend the celebration are Louise Allbritton and Robert Paige of Universal Pictures and Virginia O'Brien, MGM star of "DuBarry Was A Lady." Harry Hershfield, famous

HARRY HERSHFIELD

IN THE MAIL BAG

As a resident paying large annual taxes in Bound Brook, and therefore vitally interested in the economical welfare of Bound Brook and of Somerset County, I ask space in the columns of your paper to say something to boost a fellow citizen who has done a great job for every taxpayer. I refer to Mayor Charles H. Fetterly who asks our support in the coming primary election for the nomination, on the Republican ticket, for Sheriff of Somerset County. We taxpayers owe to Charles Fetterly our unstinted backing in this campaign if, for no other reason, than, in that support we will express our appreciation of the fine work he has done in Bound Brook.

When Fetterly first took office in Bound Brook in 1926, the tax rate was $5.28. In the six terms of his administration the rate was brought down to $4.38. The bonded indebtedness was reduced from seven to four per cent. There was a surplus in the bank of $60,000 when Fetterly took over and $106,000 when he made his bow.

In 1939 the citizens again put Fetterly in office. Things were bad again. We faced a tax rate of $5.30 and the surplus in the bank was again down to $57,000.00. In the four years that followed Fetterly has been able to reduce the tax rate to $4.66 and the surplus in cash is about $137,000.

Remember, this was done without affecting the job of keeping the borough streets and the general efficiency at a new all-high level. Fetterly has worked without pay and he has devoted his entire time to "selling Bound Brook", which he has done with outstanding results.

We know in our hearts just what Fetterly has meant to Bound Brook's progress, and I think it is about time we got together to do something for Fetterly by supporting him with our votes and influence in his fight for Sheriff. The nomination is important and every qualified voter should go to the polls, Primary Day, September 21, and cast a ballot for Fetterly for Sheriff. Certainly the community owes it to him and he is ably equipped to handle the job.

Yours,
Samuel Klompus
(The largest individual taxpayer in Bound Brook.)

Refuse To Admit Pupils Under Five

A proposal that children under five years of age be admitted to Branchburg schools to free their mothers for war work was turned down by the Board of Education Monday evening. The township has no kindergarten to care for the younger pupils.

The board received a report that enrolment has surpassed 160 pupils, with an increase at the Fairview School. The calendar for the coming year was changed slightly to that of Somerville High. However, classes will end June 9 so that older pupils will be available for farm work.

Don't be a habitsentee-er

WE'RE PRETTY REGULAR FELLERS

We Johns-Manville jobholders have a pretty swell general record of being on the job. Our record is only 3 and a half days lost out of every 100, while all industry averages 5 and a half. We J-M jobholders could do even better if all jobholders in all our J-M plants realized the seriousness of absenteeism.

Regularity or absenteeism seem to be catching like measles. So let's be careful which we spread . . . by our example.

"I FIGGER IF I LAY OFF A DAY TO GO FISHIN', NINE OTHER GUYS WILL KETCH THE SAME IDEA, SO I DONT"

SOME QUICKIE J-M FIGURES

Here are some fast figures on Johns-Manville at the end of the first half of 1943: Jobholders, 15,600. Payroll increase over first half of 1942, $3,664,028. Overtime, $1,278,257. Sales for half-year, $51,027,660. Taxes, $5,166,411. Profit, only about 4 cents out of each $1.

RESPECT FOR LABOR

Henry M. Wriston, president of Brown University, in conferring an honorary degree upon Lewis H. Brown, president of Johns-Manville, recently said:

"Having worked your way in the world, you early gained and steadily manifested that profound respect for labor and that sincere regard for the personal dignity of the workman which must underlie effective industrial relations"

LITTLE JOURNEYS TO J-M PLANTS

Today we will hop to Manville, N.J., and Waukegan, Ill.—two more of Johns-Manville's 17 plants. War work here, too—nearly 100 percent. These plants have rolled out and are still producing many square miles of Transite roofing and siding and hundreds of carloads of rock wool home insulation and miles of Transite pipe and electrical conduit for barracks, military bases, hospitals and cantonments.

J-M insulation, such as 85% Magnesia and Superex products, help make it possible for American warships to be driven at high speed.

Asbestos packings, packing cups, gaskets and other items are turned out for planes, submarines, war and troop ships.

J-M asphalt tile flooring goes into naval air stations, military bases and submarine barracks the world over.

Waukegan makes Asbestos Flexboard for military structures all over the globe.

J-M brake linings and clutch facings are used in army and navy vehicles and planes.

And don't forget the wartime importance of the fuel saved by Manville and Waukegan-produced rock wool insulation for homes.

12 Handy Tips For Saving Heat In Winter Months

Storm windows and storm doors should be installed earlier than usual this year to prevent heat loss during those first cold days that come without warning.

To prevent heat leaks, cover the inside of unused windows (in closets, empty rooms, etc.) with heavy paper, corrugated cardboard, or insulation board.

To conserve heat, tape the upper sash of all windows, and both sashes of windows that will not be used.

Outside doors that are not used should be sealed around the edges and keyholes plugged to keep cold air out.

If home radiators have adjustable directional grilles, slant them downward so the heat will pour out over the lower part of the room before it rises.

Screens and furniture around radiators should be removed because they prevent the heat from radiating through the room.

Heat can be conserved by hanging tapestries, drapes, or rugs on any large expanses of wall in the home, particularly on the side of the house that gets the most winter wind.

To save heat in your home, pull down all shades at night, and draw all draperies to cover as much of the window area as possible.

To conserve fuel, do not waste hot water. Use it sparingly; keep hot water faucets and pipes in good repair.

Heat which is released in the basement should be made accessible to the rest of the house by keeping the inside basement door open, or by allowing it to pass through special grilles placed in the floor.

Heat can be saved by keeping all grilles and ducts that transport heat clean and free from obstruction.

For greater warmth, keep shutters closed at night, or during cold winds.

Red Cross Volunteers Make Garments

Women volunteers in the Volunteer Special Services of the American Red Cross of which there are more than 3,000,000 are making one of the greatest contributions to the war effort. Since Pearl Harbor they have turned out 517,000,000 surgical dressings for the Army and Navy and other armed forces of the United Nations; 3,962,362 knitted and other garments for able-bodied members of the armed forces; 1,505,875 hospital garments for hospitalized members of the armed forces and hundreds of thousands of layettes and millions of garments distributed in foreign relief work. These women volunteers worked nearly a billion hours during the past fiscal year. (American Red Cross for the Office of War Information)

Set the Stage With Care To Get Children's Good Will

Have you been on a train recently? If so, you have probably noticed how differently various people manage their children in this difficult situation.

One mother, crowded into the narrow seat facing a car full of people, made her sleepy little boy comfortable by letting him crumple their coats for a pillow and stretch out his legs on her lap. It made her conspicuous, it was hard on the coats, but it allowed a nervous little child to rest for at least a half-hour. Later, she used maple sugar and chewing gum as methods of softening the hardships of the trip. After he had laboriously peeled the paper covering off his candy and chewing gum, she had the child place the papers carefully in the candy box instead of throwing them on the floor. Was this good training? What do most people do with trash on the train?

Another mother, in a corresponding seat across the aisle and also accompanied by a small boy, used different methods. She insisted that her son sit still, but she supplied a pencil and paper to keep him occupied. When that match-case with a big open "V" on it to fill in with his pencil. He was as proud as Punch when it stood out in all its pencilled blackness, twice as big as before.

Both of these mothers recognized a child's need for being comfortable and occupied. The two children were of very different types. The first boy was restless, sensitive, and needed special consideration; the second was much more placid, but very sensitive to criticism. He hung his head for a long time when he was reproved for "accidentally" touching the strange lady on the opposite seat.

Both children behaved well under trying circumstances, for travel these days is anything but easy. Both mothers were understanding, though some observers might have considered the first too lenient, the second too strict. Both tried to "set the stage" for good behavior. If you are interested in this problem, ask your County Home Demonstration Agent for the "Extension Leaflet, 'Why Do Children Destroy Things?'"

Menus and Recipes

Tomatoes, one of the most valuable members of the vegetable family, are plentiful—fortunately in most New Jersey Victory Gardens, and will be available until Jack Frost puts in his first appearance later in the fall.

Thousands of ripe, fine-flavored tomatoes have been canned, and probably an equally large number went into the salad bowl during the summer months, but how to use some of those that are not ripening so quickly may prove a problem. Mrs. Mildred McCormick, Hunterdon County home demonstration agent, offers two good solutions in this week's Extension Service menu—fried tomatoes and kidney creole beans. Tomatoes are much easier to prepare and handle for frying when they are only partially ripe, Mrs. McCormick says. Here's her recipe for doing it:

Fried Tomatoes
 4 firm tomatoes
 1/2 cup flour
 1 tsp. salt
 Pepper
 Drippings
 Remove the core from the tomatoes and then cut them in 1/2-inch slices. Mix the flour, salt and pepper and dip the tomato in the flour mixture, coating both sides well. Have the drippings or fat hot, and brown both sides.

Stuffed Eggplant Will Keep Your Points Down! (See Recipes Below)

Late summer is the truck gardeners' paradise, and this summer we might well say the Victory gardeners' paradise, for there are many gay and attractive foods ripening now which may make a truly appetizing appearance on your table. For example, the season's choicest tomatoes in their fullest, ripest red make merry at the table now.

There's also golden-eared, tender sweet corn, at its best when picked not more than half an hour before eating. And one of the most dramatic vegetables to do justice to fall dinners is the eggplant—smooth, deep purple and shiny in appearance.

Most of you are undoubtedly familiar with eggplant served sliced and fried—and there's no doubt it's good that way. But for a change, try it baked with a savory stuffing and make it a main dish feature of your dinner. The total cooking time for preparing it in this new way is only 35 minutes—10 minutes for boiling the eggplant in rapidly boiling water, and then 25 minutes baking in a moderate oven.

HEALTH HINTS

Itching hives are caused by food or other material to which an individual is sensitive; he is allergic to them. The itching may be relieved by sponging with a strong solution of baking soda and water. If the attack is sudden and severe and known to be caused by food, empty the stomach by drinking plenty of warm salt water.

To turn a patient toward you: 1. Flex the patient's knees. 2. Bend at the hips, place one hand on farther shoulder of patient and the other under his hip and draw him toward you. Lift patient's hips back toward center just enough to put his body in a natural and comfortable position.

To turn the patient from you: 1. Flex the patient's knees. 2. Pass one hand as far as possible under the patient's shoulders and the other as far as possible under upper thighs or buttocks. 3. Raise patient slightly to draw him toward you and gradually turn his body so that he is resting on his side. Adjust hips to comfortable position.

A cushion from an overstuffed chair covered with a pillow slip or towel makes a good back rest for the convalescent patient.

stored; canning them may seem like an unnecessary use of jar space. However, stored apples must be in perfect condition to keep well. Windfall and less perfect apples are the ones to salvage to make into canned applesauce, pie apples, baked apples, or apple compote.

Remember, too, that these apples can be utilized to make apple and mint jelly as well as apple butter. If you like to make either green tomato mincemeat or true mincemeat, windfall apples are a good source of the chopped apples required in those recipes.

Tart apples retain their flavor better than the more mellow ones. A 50-pound bushel of apples will fill about 20 quart jars.

Applesauce is perhaps the most readily prepared, because the skins and cores of the fruit need not be removed. The fruit must be washed thoroughly, however, to remove any spray materials. Cut out cores which are wormy and remove all blemishes with a generous scoop of the paring knife. Quarter the fruit and place it over a slow fire to soften.

Run the pulp through a sieve or food mill. Now it can be lightly seasoned with spices (nutmeg, Cinnamon, cloves) and sweetened according to your family's taste. Although you are allowed as much as one-half cup of sugar for each quart, most homemakers find that less sugar is more satisfactory.

Reheat the sauce by bringing it to the boiling point. Pack it to within a half-inch of the top of sterile jars, carefully remove air bubbles, seal according to the type closure, and process in a boiling water bath for five minutes. Complete sealing the jars.

For Pies and Compote
 For both of these purposes, the apples must be peeled and cored.

Prolong Life Of Clothes Through Timely Repairs

Do you have a dress, blouse or housecoat that is slightly narrow across the back? If so, some reinforcing will prevent the fabric or sleeve seams from pulling out, and thus prolong the wear of the garment indefinitely. To make this reinforcement you will need a five-inch strip of fabric similar to that of the garment in color and cut on the lengthwise thread of the material. Pink the long edges—do not hem because the thick edges of the hem may make a ridge on the outside of the garment.

Lay this strip on the wrong side of the dress or blouse, across the back, and pin it smoothly from sleeve seam to sleeve seam. Fasten it in the sleeve seam at each side. Then remove the pins. When the reinforcement is finished, it is a loose piece of cloth fastened only at the sleeve seam, but it serves to take part of the strain off the garment fabric.

Another reinforcement which pays dividends is one used at the corners of pockets—particularly pockets on aprons, smocks and house-dresses. For this, use twilled cotton tape about a half-inch in width. Before the pocket has been stitched in place (if you are making the garment) pin a piece of this tape to the wrong side of the garment across the top of the pocket so that it reaches from one side to the other. Cut the tape long enough to extend a half-inch beyond each side of the pocket.

Now stitch the pocket all around, making a double row of stitching for about one inch at both upper corners. This stitching should catch the inside tape. The fact that the tape extends across the top—loose except for corner stitching—prevents the fabric around the pocket from tearing if the pocket is caught on a knoop or door handle.

A similar tape reinforcement under buttons on wash frocks or other garments receiving considerable strain saves these clothes from tearing. It is better to have one continuous tape going the full length of the row of buttons than to have a short piece at each individual button.

Reinforcing the back of a wool skirt is time well spent, especially if a skirt tends to bag. Stitch a fitted piece of lining fabric into side seams, having it lie smoothly across the back. Fasten it at the top into the belt seam, and leave the bottom edge free.

Urge Gardeners To Start Compost Heap For '44 Crop

Farm home gardeners—and suburban Victory gardeners who have the space available—can do much to improve their garden soils by starting a compost heap this fall.

Fundamentally, finished compost is a well turned or spaded mixture of soil and decayed plant material, usually with manure or commercial fertilizer added. Although some authorities recommend the addition of lime, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says that it may cause loss of nitrogen from the fermenting vegetable matter. Department specialists suggest placing unbleached wood ashes and other materials containing lime to the garden areas itself.

"For a moderate-sized place," the Department of Agriculture says, "start a neat roughly six or seven feet square with a two- or three-inch layer of soil and follow with a six-inch layer of waste material, such as lawn clippings, leaves, etc. Then alternate these layers, keeping the sides vertical and the top flat or dish-shaped. Boards or old wire fencing may be used to confine the heap. The pile may be built up four or five feet high. Apply water frequently enough to keep the pile damp all the way through.

"Rotting of compost is speeded by adding a few handfuls of a complete fertilizer high in nitrogen, cottonseed meal or similar nitrogenous plant food to each layer. This is not necessary if animal or poultry manure is added, however.

"For good quality compost, avoid using pine needles or very heavy weed stalks. Turn the pile two or three times in the year. It takes about a year to make the best compost."

The Department of Agriculture garden specialists remind gardeners that compost does not take the place of fertilizer, but is used primarily to improve the physical condition of the soil with which it is mixed.

Praise Sgt. Marton For Fire Bravery

For his recent brave action in saving Ft. Hancock officers club from a serious fire, a commendation has been received by Staff Sgt. Paul Marton of Highway 29. This is the second badge of merit bestowed on Marton during his four years in the Army.

The local boy, half dressed and ready for bed, reported the fire and then dashed through a screen to land in the middle of a flame-enveloped kitchen. He trained an extinguisher on the center of the blaze, a pot of cooking fat. Brig. Gen. Philip S. Gage said his alertness prevented a fire which would have done several thousands of dollars damage.

By the time the camp firemen arrived the fire was out. They praised Marton for his quick thinking in grabbing an extinguisher before he sprinted 100 yards to the fire.

Last year Marton also did some quick thinking and solved a camp soap crisis. He remembered an old recipe used by his grandmother and went out for 50 cents worth of lye. Soon he was manufacturing soap and 89 pounds were on hand to solve the shortage. He again won the praise of General Gage, who visited the kitchen to view the results.

He is one of four sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Marton in service. He was in the Canal Zone before Pearl Harbor and since has been at Ft. Hancock. He is married and father of a daughter. He is mess sergeant at Hancock.

His brother Korel is in Iceland. Seabee Philip is at Camp Peary, Va., and Sgt. John is at Nashville, Tenn.

Headed Overseas

From Westover Field, Mass. comes word from Cpl. John De Melio that he is in his last stage of overseas training. He had been stationed for 16 months at Lake Charles, La. and recently trekked North to prepare for the hop across. He is with a ground squadron of the Air Forces.

"I am sending you this card to remind you to send the NEWS to this new address. I am in my final stage of overseas training. I enjoyed the trip north very much," writes John, who is the son of Thomas DeMelio of 20 Doughty St. He was inducted Apr. 17, 1942.

ON TENNESSEE MANEUVERS

Sgt. Peter Petras, 26 Codrington St., has been in the Army long enough (18 months) to know that "maneuvers in Tennessee" probably means the entire state. "Will probably maneuver over all of Tennessee before we are through," he writes. Petras has previously been at Ft. Jackson, S. C. and Ft. Custer, Mich. He sends his new address so the NEWS will be sure to follow him.

DIX TO DEVONS TO DIX

Perantoni Making Fast Recovery

"Tony" Perantoni — remember the guy who was nearly sunk by Nazi torpedoes and claimed he merely fell out of a hammock? — is getting well fast and will soon be on his feet.

A letter of thanks for all the birthday greetings sent him by NEWS readers comes from Tony, who is at the Navy hospital at Morehead City, N. C. He says he is in a wheel chair and expects to be on crutches soon.

Here is his letter to the staff of the NEWS:

"I want to take this opportunity to thank you for the nice news item that you printed about me in your fine paper, and to thank the many friends who sent me birthday greetings. I wish to thank the State Bank staff and Cashier

Probably Eating Spaghetti With Kin

On Aug. 24 Cpl. Joseph Angelone wrote from Sicily that "I am getting closer and closer to grandma and grandpa," who are in the town of Lioni, between Naples and Foggia. Since Gen. Eisenhower probably didn't let him in on the surrender plans, Joe expected to fight his way up the Italian boot in much the same style as he went through Tunisia and Sicily.

So with Italy out of the war and Naples in Allied hands, Joe is probably going to get his wish sooner than he thought. In fact, he might be in Lioni this moment.

His father, Sally, left Lioni in 1912 to come to Raritan and has been an active citizen ever since. His son is the first Raritan boy to be officially reported in Tunisia, where he served in all the major battles.

His letter, which arrived this week, follows:

"I am feeling fine and in the best of health. It's been a long time since I wrote and the reason is that we are no longer in North Africa and are now fighting in Sicily. Boy am I glad. I can understand everybody because they are Italian. I am having a swell time here. You should hear me speak Italian to these people. Well, I am getting closer and closer to grandma and grandpa and maybe someday I will get to see them."

He adds that he has received the camera he asked for and says he is "taking some fine pictures." He explains that his letter must be short "because we're too busy moving from one place to another."

Grayouski In Mich.

Arriving at Ft. Custer, Mich. on Sept. 4 was a treat for Pvt. Louis Grayovski — it was the first time he had seen rain in many months. He had been in the California desert for more than a year.

Grayovski, one of three brothers in the Army, says Michigan "reminds me of Jersey, the trees are the same and we're even having a thunder storm." He expects to remain in the Wolverine state for two months. "Thanks very much for your kindness in sending the NEWS. It makes me feel at home in good old Raritan and about all it's nice to read of what's going on my friends here and over there."

SPEIGEL VISITS HOME

Pvt. Louis Spiegel recently spent a few days furlough at his North Branch home. He is stationed at Wright Field, Ohio. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Spiegel.

This will be more than 10 million dollars an hour.

BARBERI TRANSFERRED

Pvt. Adolph Barberi has been transferred from Fort Dix to Camp Davis, N. C. The son of Mrs. Mary Barberi of 69 W. Somerset St., he was inducted Aug. 5.

No. Branch Boy Pilots Big Fighters

Sgt. Robert Disbrow of North Branch is in the final phase of cadet training at Columbus, Miss. and will graduate next month as a fighter pilot. He is a flying crew chief and has flown B-24's, B-17's and A-20's.

He writes that he is now spending most of his time at the controls of a twin-engine job. His letter follows:

"I want to thank you for the NEWS. I can keep up with my buddies and it makes things brighter when the hometown paper arrives. I'm in the final phase of training and we are given the going over to see who will make flight officers and who will be second lieutenants. Our graduation will be late in October or early November. We hope to get furloughs. I have not been home since joining the service more than a year ago."

Disbrow, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Disbrow of Readington Rd., attended Somerville High and was graduated as a plane mechanic at Gulfport, Miss. He was inducted Aug. 14, 1942.

Tozzi Wins Medal

A Good Conduct medal brightens up the uniform of Sgt. Vincent J. Tozzi of 24 Anderson St., who is attached to the Quartermaster Detachment at Raritan Arsenal, Metuchen. Vincent has been wearing the Army uniform nearly three years and was at Hickam Field, Pearl Harbor, for nearly a year as a welder. He was lucky enough to be sent home shortly before the Japs made their infamous attack and arrived here 15 days before Dec. 7th. He is now busy handling paper work for a colonel.

When he reached the hospital he wrote his family that he was injured "when I fell out of a hammock", and mentioned nothing of his near-death at sea.
